What is an Endoscopy Screening?

Endoscopic procedures can diagnose and treat gastrointestinal disorders such as peptic ulcers, polyps, cancers, inflammation, and tumours. Our consultants have extensive experience treating bleeding intestines, precancerous abnormalities in conditions referred to as Barrett's oesophagus, and familial adenomatous polyposis syndrome. Screening is required when you are experiencing gastric reflux symptoms (heartburn), upper abdominal pain, difficulty after swallowing or any other concerns regarding your stomach.

Terms & Conditions:

- For screening or diagnostic purposes only.
- Pre-admission and post-procedure consultations, examinations, anaesthetic charges, and medications are excluded.
- This package is only available to participating consultants.
- This package is only valid for patients who pay with cash or a credit card.
- UCSI Hospital reserves the right, at its sole discretion, to change the terms, conditions, and validity period without prior notice.
